RICHARDSON SCORED

Lawyers in the Police Court Harshly Rake the Detective Over the Coals.

HIS TILT WITH COURT CLERK GREGORY.

An Interesting and Lively Session of Justice Seneca's Tribunal for the Trial of Petty Cases—In the Law and Chancery Courts—Corporation Court—Suits Entered.

Yesterday was one of the liveliest days on record in the Police Court and Detective Richardson was a central figure in the sensational incidents of the session. The detective entered the court-room smiling, he came out angry, because one of his prisoners had been dismissed against his protests; because he had been unjustly scored by lawyers and prisoners, and because he had had a war of words with Clerk Gregory, in which he had gotten the worst end of it. The detective's dismissal was seemingly pleasure to the spectators.

The docket itself was a short one and would, under ordinary circumstances, have been uninteresting. THE BESSIE ROSS CASE. The cases of a well-known business man and Bessie Ross, arrested by Detective Richardson on Wednesday night during a general raid made by that officer upon houses of questionable character, drew a large and curious crowd to the court owing to the prominence of one of the defendants as one of our leading merchants, who has a host of friends, especially among the sporting fraternity. The merchant asked that the two warrants in which he was interested be continued until tomorrow, owing to the inability of his counsel, Mr. W. H. White, to be present. Detective Richardson thereupon asked that the case be continued five days, and asked for warrants against the man and Bessie Ross for adultery instead of fornication, as charged.

The prisoner opposed the five days' continuance and asked that the case be set for tomorrow. Justice Seneca continued the cases until November 5th, and the new warrants against the accused were also issued. During the hearing a wrangle and hot words were passed between the detective and Detective Richardson, and it was not until his Honor threatened to punish them both for contempt of his court that they were induced to desist and keep quiet.

SHED, CARR DISMISSED. When the case of Shed, Carr, the head waiter at one of the hotels in the city, was called, the case was dismissed by Justice Seneca on Wednesday night by Detective Richardson at No. 36 Avon street, during his raid, was called, his attorney, Julius T. Saunders, moved that the warrant be dismissed upon the grounds that the warrant was fatally defective. The warrant alleged that the accused had committed a certain crime on the night in question, but failed to name the correspondent. Mr. Saunders argued that his client was called upon to answer a crime without having been advised of the nature of the accusation or in connection with whom the offense was committed; that the nature of the alleged offense was such that his client could not prepare his defense without knowing the other party to the crime; that his client should never have submitted to be taken into custody under such a warrant, and that for his Honor to try the case under the warrant in question would be to take from his client the right granted him under the Constitution of being confronted with his accusers and the nature of the accusation.

Justice Seneca promptly dismissed the warrant, against Detective Richardson's protests.

DETECTIVE RICHARDSON SCORED. The case of Annie Knight, arrested by Detective Richardson during Wednesday night's raid on two warrants, one of which charged her with the commission of a crime at a house of ill-fame at No. 26 Avon street, and the other of fornication with Shed, Carr, Julius T. Saunders and Walter H. Land represented the accused and opposed the motion of Detective Richardson for a continuance of the case. Mr. Saunders argued that the plaintiff was not entitled to a continuance because the detective had not put himself within the rules of procedure by having subpoenas issued for his witnesses and that his client's liberty should not longer be taken from her by the neglect or inactivity of the officer conducting the prosecution. Justice Seneca stated that he would not dismiss the case, but release the woman upon her own recognizance for her appearance tomorrow.

During the hearing Mr. Saunders stated to his Honor that he did not wish to impute to Detective Richardson in his assaults upon these women and men. The attorney believed Detective Richardson was thoroughly conscientious in the matter; that he thought he was doing his duty, but history has proven that the most dangerous errors in the world are made by thoroughly conscientious men when they are wedded to a wrong idea, and is on the wrong track. Since "Jack, the Ripper" has been apprehended the learned insanity expert tells us that Jack was thoroughly conscientious; that he believed he was doing his duty in the performance of his crimes. So Detective Richardson, under the impression that he is doing his duty, is taking liberty and money in the way of imprisonment and fines from innocent and law-abiding people.

CHARLES ORMSLEY'S CASE. Mr. Charles Ormsley, white, appeared before the Police Court yesterday to answer the warrant sworn out by a young white boy, named Reverend C. Harris, charging Mr. Ormsley with assaulting him, knocking him down and kicking him. The boy showed a slightly disfigured ear, which he claimed to be the result of a blow from Mr. Ormsley's fist. The defendant asked for a continuance to secure further evidence in his behalf, which his Honor granted until November 2d, placing him under $20 bail bond for his appearance. Mr. Doc Baum entering as his surety.

MINOR OFFENSES. Sidney Parker, colored, stealing; continued until November 7th. John Adams, white, suspicious character; fined $1 and costs.

Mabel Davis, white, nuisance; continued to November 5th. Mamie Reid, colored, house of ill-fame; continued to November 2d. Annie Green, colored; fornication; continued to November 2d.

Willie Coleman, colored, fornication; continued to November 2d. Joseph L. Southall, colored, trespass; dismissed at costs of complainant. Annie Lynch, colored, profanity; dismissed.

Estelle Barnes, colored, breach of the peace; dismissed. Sydney Parker, colored, housebreaking and larceny; continued to November 7th.

Henry Woodlin, colored, breach of the peace; fined the costs, $3.50. Thomas Donohue, William Bailey, Frank Richmond, John McEann, L. S. Hatter, Alexander Nicholson, white, fined $1 and costs.

Corporation Court. The entire time of the Corporation Court was taken up yesterday hearing applications for the correction of erroneous assessments made upon real estate in the city under the late assessment. The number of applications was large, there being over one hundred, and it caused the court-room to be packed throughout the entire day. His Honor busy. A large proportion of the applications were granted.

Court of Law and Chancery. Late Wednesday night the jury in the second trial of the case of Hannan Twine vs. L. Wasserman for $1,000 damages for a broken arm, alleged to have resulted from the running away of a team belonging to Mr. Wasserman, brought in a verdict of $900 for the plaintiff. This is $400 more than was given the colored plaintiff on the previous trial, and within $100 of what she asked.

Mr. Wasserman's attorneys immediately moved for a new trial, and Judge Martin, after hearing their argument on the motion, refused to grant it, whereupon they noted an appeal to the Court of Appeals.

The suit of Mary Cheatham vs. R. D. Kibler was called on the Court of Law and Chancery yesterday, but owing to the absence of material witnesses on account of sickness the case was continued until next term of the court.

Suits Entered. J. W. Barbour, trustee (under deed from M. L. Dezenford and John F. Dezenford), vs. City of Norfolk. Damages $500.

This suit is to recover back from the city money alleged to have been illegally assessed against the plaintiffs and paid by them under protest.

Frey vs. Burruss. The Court of Law and Chancery was busy yesterday trying the suit of Geo. H. Frey vs. N. Burruss, Messrs. Starke & Starke, Smith & Smith, and McCoy & Co. representing the plaintiff, and George McIntosh the defendant. At 8 o'clock p. m. the case was still being argued.

SERMONS FOR ALL

BY FAMOUS PREACHERS.

During the coming winter an important step will be taken by THE VIRGINIAN in presenting each Sunday a sermon by one of the prominent clergymen of the world, written especially for our readers. These sermons are to be entirely non-sectarian, and designed to supply that need of good reading all persons feel on Sunday, and which the Sunday paper goes far toward supplying.

Heretofore it has been difficult to secure material up to the standard of a paper such as THE VIRGINIAN, but now an association has been organized to supply these sermons, it being a recognized part of its Christian work. THE VIRGINIAN is very glad of this opportunity, it seeks to be found foremost in giving hearty support to any worthy cause, and it feels assured the influence of this step on the part of the clergy in the country in the way of liberality and fellowship will result in much good fruit.

The following are the names of some of the contributors for the coming winter months. The initial sermon will be contributed by
